b.ii. It is agreed that the above obligations to indemnify are limited to the extent allowed by law. To the extent a party supports its indemnity obligations with insurance (as opposed to qualified self-insurance), such party agrees to cause its insurers to waive rights of subrogation against the other party’s Group (Magnus Group or Client Group, as applicable) but only to the extent such party has agreed to defend, indemnify, and hold harmless the other party’s Group.

Both parties agree that this statement complies with the requirement known as the express negligence rule to expressly state in a conspicuous manner to afford fair and adequate notice that this section has provisions requiring one party to be responsible for the negligence, strict liability, or other fault of another party.

c. Notification.

Client and Magnus shall promptly notify each other, as appropriate under the above Sections, of any Claims that may be presented to either by any party. Client and Magnus shall afford each other full opportunity to assume the defense of such Claims, and to protect all implicated interests. A party's participation in, or selection of counsel for the defense of the such party's Group as to any legal process shall not constitute a waiver of such party's Group's right to insist upon the other party's full compliance with the other party's obligations under this Section.

d. Survival.

All indemnity provisions of the Agreement shall survive termination, expiration, or cancellation of the Proposal, Agreement, work order, or any change order hereunder.

Magnus shall notify Client of any such delay and its cause. The replacement of any of the Materials damaged or destroyed by such events shall be at Client's expense.

- b. Magnus will not be held liable for any errors or delays caused by the acts of others including suppliers or any entity not directly controlled by Magnus; stop-work orders not directly caused by Magnus; faulty designs; errors or omissions in the plans or specifications; etc.
- c. Magnus will not be held liable for delays by manufactures, shippers, expeditors, and suppliers.
